

Boost collective innovation and skill sharing between employees

TIMEBANKPRO is a powerful answer to 3 major problems in your company:

Collective innovation

The learning company

Quality of life and the need to feel part of a community

Boost innovation, even in times of telework development

Did you know that the development of telework leads in the medium term to a weakening of innovation, in particular due to the reduction of informal discussions "around the coffee machine"?

Yet, your company needs to go on innovating!

Our collaborative solution allows your employees to get involved in collective innovation, by proposing projects within the framework of inspiring challenges, or by integrating an interdisciplinary team.

Your employees can also simply offer their skills on an ad hoc basis, which helps to maintain and develop a sense of belonging and to avoid isolation.

Challenges can take place online.

A real example of a challenge (opened to several companies in this case, as well as citizens and students): <https://summit4good.timebankpro.com>

The banner features the Summit4Good logo (S4G) in green and blue, with the text 'Summit4Good' and 'La plateforme collaborative' below it. On the left, there's a graphic of a globe with green leaves. On the right, a hand holds a transparent globe. The background is a soft-focus image of a hand holding a globe. In the top right corner, there's a navigation bar with links: Summit4Good #1, Requests, Offers, Directory, Philippe, Contact, Home, and flags for France, UK, and Spain. In the bottom right corner, there's a logo for 'La FRENCH TECH BREST+'.

Innovate for a sustainable society, and win one of the €3,000 prizes in the competition!

Welcome Philippe ☺

Corporate

Optionally, you can activate a virtual currency on your platform. If this option is activated, an employee who transmits a skill then earns "points", i.e. "time credits", once his skill has been transmitted.

This fun aspect of a virtual currency allows you to set up donation and counter-donation within your community of employees.

A community currency, which you can name as you wish, contributes to the feeling of belonging to your company.

Your company thus becomes a learning organization, i.e. an organization in which knowledge transfer takes place at all levels, by implementing collaborative and participatory learning.

A learning organization allows employees to learn within a community and to call upon collective intelligence.

Foster community spirit, cohesion, well-being, and thus engagement

"Relationships with others in the company play a key role in our well-being at work. It starts with a simple but powerful feeling of belonging to a community." - Eric Singer, Nudge management

When your company or establishment implements an internal marketplace for skill sharing, your company as a whole should choose the kind of skill sharing that will be allowed: professional skills or also personal skills or hobbies. Your company's choice may well change over time.

"If in a company, we show ourselves with a very small part of who we are, we only invest a very small part of our energy and creativity" - Frédéric Laloux, Reinventing organizations

As a company or institution, you can therefore choose to allow users to share services, talents or passions of a more personal nature, on specific time slots, or days specially dedicated to well-being at work.

Regardless of the type of skills or services exchanged, a collaborative platform develops a sense of belonging and cohesion, one of the pillars of commitment. The presence of "friends" at work makes it possible to perceive everyday life in the company in a much more positive way. Relationships with colleagues is often considered as the number one factor in corporate well-being.
